

2019 Outstanding Peer Reviewers

Bernard Chang, MD
Robert Ehrman, MD

Ross Fleischman, MD
Jeffrey Hom, MD

Brandon Maughan, MD
Danielle McCarthy, MD

Paul Musey, MD
Jill Stoltzfus, PhD

The Outstanding Peer Reviewer designation is given annually to peer reviewers who meet the following criteria for excellent performance:

- provided at least 5 high quality reviews (score of 5);
- had no more than 1 late review;
- had a mean score of 85% or higher (= r score of 3.4 or higher); and
- accepted 2/3 of all review requests.

Peer reviewers are essential to presenting the high-quality, original research and academic contributions that fill the pages of Academic Emergency Medicine each month. We appreciate all of our AEM peer reviewers and are especially grateful to these eight Outstanding Peer Reviewers for their dedicated, conscientious, and exceptional service to AEM in 2019 in contributing timely, rigorous, and thoughtful peer reviews.