Global Emergency Medicine Academy (GEMA)

See attachment for logo design.

a. To improve the global delivery of emergency care through research, education, and mentorship.

b. To enhance SAEM’s role as the international emergency medicine organization that augments, supports, and shares advances in global research, education, and mentorship.

BACKGROUND

The Society for Academic Emergency Medicine (SAEM) has already had an extensive, long-term involvement with “international” or “global” Emergency Medicine (EM). This involvement would be greatly enhanced and made even more successful by the formation and operation of the Global Emergency Medicine Academy.

The SAEM International Committee, founded in the early 1990s, transitioned into the International EM Interest Group, which quickly became one of the largest and most successful interest groups in SAEM. The groundswell of enthusiasm among SAEM members (including medical students, EM residents and fellows) demonstrates increasing awareness of the impact that Emergency Medicine has throughout the world. It also evidences a widespread interest among academicians to cooperatively foster education and research in Emergency Medicine the world over. The International EM Interest Group has already worked diligently to realize these aims; below are some of its accomplishments.
A reference database on “International EM Clinical Rotations and Fellowships” was developed by members of the SAEM International Interest Group as a service to SAEM’s general membership in response to a demand for this information coming from students, EM residents and junior faculty. Developed in-house in the 1990s, the list of rotations was subsequently transferred to ACEP for maintenance and updating on ACEP’s web site; the International EM Fellowships listing, however, has been maintained on SAEM’s web site, and both are very frequently visited by students, EM residents and faculty.

The sum of the initial articles produced by the SAEM International Interest Group (1-9) constituted the “academic underpinning” for International EM work and provided support for considering International EM work to be a legitimate academic enterprise. Among these articles was a generic “national EM development plan” (1), which has been widely and frequently utilized as a “blueprint” for development of EM at the national level in different countries. Another was a “blueprint” for developing different but standardized International EM Fellowship Programs (8, 9). Yet another was itself a reference list compilation of all the articles published to that date on International EM (6).

The SAEM International Interest Group has been an active participant in many different national and international Emergency Medicine conferences and has fruitfully collaborated with outside organizations on behalf of SAEM. The Interest Group has held business and education sub-meetings at the annual meetings of ACEP and SAEM since 1993. Over the years, the Interest Group’s annual Research Forum, highlighting research of foreign colleagues in EM, has become one of its most successful and well attended endeavors. The Interest Group has also presented successful didactic sessions at SAEM’s Annual Meetings, and once again is slated to program one at the upcoming 2011 Annual Meeting.

With the organizational assistance of members of the SAEM International EM Interest Group, SAEM has been a co-sponsor of conjoint meetings with the United Kingdom Faculty of Accident and Emergency Medicine (UKFAEM) in 1990 in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1993 in Cambridge, England, and in 1998 in Oxford, England. SAEM partnered with the European Society of Emergency Medicine (EuSEM) in San Marino in 1998. And more recently, International EM Interest Group leadership has been very instrumental in further growing the relationship between SAEM and EuSEM. As a direct consequence of this enhanced relationship, members of the International EM Interest Group recently represented SAEM at the 2010 EuSEM Meeting in Sweden—drumming up more European membership. All these conferences have been instrumental in strengthening networking among emergency physicians in many countries, and the involvement of academicians has helped both UKFAEM and EuSEM to begin to realize academic Emergency Medicine in Europe.
SAEM has formally participated in the last three EuSEM and Mediterranean Congresses by organizing and presenting one or more educational tracks at each. SAEM’s participation in these meetings has also contributed to improved and increased networking of teachers and researchers of EM around the world. This is particularly true in the areas of EM faculty development and international research projects.

SAEM is the natural home for EM teachers and researchers, wherever in the world they may live or work. The International EM Interest Group has a proven track record of leadership, collaboration, innovation, and perhaps most importantly, productivity. Certainly with the added administrative and budgetary support afforded to Academies, the Global Emergency Medicine Academy will be uniquely positioned to facilitate SAEM’s role in the world as the representative of teachers and researchers of Emergency Medicine.

ACADEMY/DUES STRUCTURE

i. Full-cost membership fee to GEMA for all SAEM members who are not residents/fellows, medical students, or Associate/International Affiliates.

Rationale: Historically, the overwhelming majority of the members of the SAEM International Emergency Medicine Interest Group have been Emergency Medicine faculty/attendings. We fully expect this to be the case with GEMA. Therefore, most of GEMA’s members will pay full-cost dues, initially suggested to be $100 annually.

ii. No-cost GEMA membership for SAEM members who are residents or fellows.

Rationale: Emergency Medicine residents and fellows have limited incomes. These residents and fellows are important future (full dues-paying) SAEM/GEMA members. GEMA’s close mentorship of these individuals is essential to Global Emergency Medicine’s growth and academic productivity. Welcoming these Emergency Medicine residents and fellows into GEMA at no cost will facilitate this all-important relationship.

iii. Twenty-five percent membership fee to GEMA for medical students Rationale: Medical students are a subgroup of the larger SAEM community with very limited income. These medical students will hopefully pursue Emergency Medicine, and ultimately Global Emergency Medicine, as a career. With mentorship from GEMA, this likelihood will increase, and as such, their participation in GEMA is essential. However, to dissuade medical students only interested in “padding” their curriculum vitae from joining, we are asking medical students to pay a 75%-reduced membership to GEMA.

iv. Reduced membership fee (based on member’s home country World Health Organization (WHO) HINARI band’) for SAEM/GEMA members living outside the United States.*http://www.who.int/hinari/eligibility/en/

Rationale: All countries are not economically equal. As such, interested SAEM members from resource-limited countries face an undue hardship in paying full-cost GEMA dues. As an example, in some countries, one hundred US dollars is all a physician earns for a month’s work.

Since we want SAEM and GEMA to be the academic representative for any interested party anywhere in the world, we will offer a tiered dues scale for members living outside the United States. We suspect that this will make it easier to attract clinicians, educators and researchers from HINARI countries both to SAEM and GEMA, thereby increasing opportunities for collaborative research and educational programs. The WHO HINARI classification (World Bank tiers 1 and 2) is widely accepted and can be employed as a tool for establishing a tiered dues scale. To this end, GEMA will work closely with SAEM’s Membership Committee to set Academy membership dues based on the same relative formula used for SAEM memberships.

Proposed formula for determining reduced GEMA membership dues:

\text{GEMA Dues} = \text{Full GEMA Dues} \times \left[\frac{\text{Member’s SAEM Dues}}{\text{Full SAEM Dues}}\right]
INAUGURAL YEAR GOALS FOR GEMA

a. In writing proposals for our first-year goals, we will need to focus on projects which are:

i. Feasible;
   ii. Useful;
   iii. Beneficial to members;
   iv. Appealing to prospective members; and
   v. Publishable (ideally).

b. Proposal 1:

   Design (and ultimately implement) a useful, content-rich, user-friendly webpage for GEMA.

c. Proposal 2:

   Compile a list of active Emergency Medicine projects internationally. Starting with all known International Emergency Medicine (IEM) Fellowships Programs, we will survey Fellowship Directors for their inventory of current endeavors for:

   i. Longevity;
   ii. Project description (Emergency Medicine specialty development, public health projects, etc.);
   iii. Funding sources;
   iv. Opportunities for involvement; and
   v. Contact information.
   The idea will be to compile this list and collate it, publishing it on our website likely based on geography. We will also solicit similar information from members subscribing to the SAEM, ACEP, and AAEM listservs. The ideal compendium will result in a manuscript to submit to Academic Emergency Medicine describing pertinent characteristics of the existing IEM Fellowships and their respective projects.

d. Proposal 3:

   Design (and ultimately implement) an interactive webpage to post open Emergency Medicine positions/rotations available to medical students, Emergency Medicine residents, fellows, and attendings from around the world who wish to gain experience outside of their own system. This page will include the following information:

   i. Host country or region;
   ii. Who may apply for this position (e.g. medical student, Emergency Medicine resident/fellow/attending, etc.);
   iii. Rotation description and duration;
   iv. Goals and objectives;
   v. Funding requirements;
   vi. Malpractice requirements;
   vii. Governmental requirements;
   viii. Language requirements; and
   ix. Contact information
e. Proposal 4:

Plan an inauguration event to launch GEMA in earnest.

f. Proposal 5:

Plan a Global Emergency Medicine track, including research forums, didactics sessions, etc., for the ensuing SAEM/GEMA Annual Meeting.

g. Proposal 6:

Advertise the formation of GEMA in an effort to increase and maintain the necessary membership. This should include an article in the SAEM newsletter, advertisements on all of the major listservs (e.g., ACEP, AAEM, etc.), soliciting help from EP International, and leveraging all of our contacts globally.

Additionally, as part of this proposal, we will contact representatives from a variety of countries to interview them and determine what they would find most appealing or critical for GEMA to provide to them so that we can properly identify our future goals and directives beyond the first year.

AMENDMENT #2 (approved 20 December 2012)

To: Global Emergency Medicine Academy (GEMA)

From: Global Emergency Medicine Academy
Executive and Nominations and Elections Committees

Date: 12 December 2012

Subject: Amendment of GEMA bylaws: Change to GEMA Executive Committee composition.

Background: As originally composed, the GEMA bylaws state that the Executive Committees is comprised of the following elected officers: President; President-Elect; Immediate Past-President; two Vice-Presidents; Secretary-Treasurer; Development Officer; and three At-Large Members/Newsletter Editors. The GEMA membership successfully elected its first President-Elect this past spring.

As the GEMA Executive and Nominations and Elections Committees prepares for our first full set of elections, we propose a change to our bylaws to reflect an actuality. Functionally, neither the Development Officer nor the three At-Large Members/Newsletter Editors have been a part of the GEMA Executive Committee. Instead, they have played major roles in the GEMA Development Committee and the GEMA Media and Communications Committee, respectively.

Amendment: The GEMA Executive and Nominations and Elections Committees propose the following change to GEMA bylaws:

1. The GEMA Executive Committee shall no longer be comprised of the following: President; President-Elect; Immediate Past-President; two Vice-Presidents; Secretary-Treasurer; Development Officer; and three At-Large Members/Newsletter Editors.

AMENDMENT #3 (approved 14 May 2013)

To: Global Emergency Medicine Academy (GEMA)

From: Global Emergency Medicine Academy
Executive and Nominations and Elections Committees

Date: 14 May 2013

Subject: Amendment of GEMA bylaws: Change to GEMA Executive Committee composition.

Background: As originally composed, the GEMA bylaws stipulate that the Nominations and Elections Committee shall be chaired by the Immediate Past President. They further state that prior to the existence of an Immediate Past President, the Academy President will appoint a Chair to the Nominations and Elections Committee. The first GEMA President is now finishing his term and during that time the Nominations and Elections Committee has coordinated two annual elections under the guidance of an appointed chair.

Based on the success of the nominations and elections experience to date, we propose a change to our bylaws to enhance the flexibility of the committee structure and to allow for increased leadership opportunities for GEMA members outside of the Executive Committee. Further, the proposed amendment will align the leadership selection process across all of the non-Executive, GEMA Permanent Committees.

Amendment: The GEMA Executive and Nominations and Elections Committees propose the following change to GEMA bylaws:

1. The Immediate Past President will automatically assume the role of Chair of the Nominations and Elections Committee.

As with the other Permanent Committees, the Chair of the Nominations and Elections Committee will be appointed by, and serve at the pleasure of, the Academy President.
AMENDMENT #4

To: Global Emergency Medicine Academy (GEMA)
From: Global Emergency Medicine Academy - President
Date: 01 March 2016

Subject: Amendment of GEMA bylaws: Change to GEMA Executive Committee composition.

Background: As originally composed, the GEMA bylaws state that the Executive Committees is comprised of the following elected officers: President; President-Elect; Immediate Past-President; two Vice-Presidents; Secretary-Treasurer; Development Officer; and three At-Large Members/Newsletter Editors. Since the 12th December 2012 an amendment was passed so that The GEMA Executive Committee, as of the approval date, shall be comprised of the following officers ONLY: President; President-Elect; Immediate Past-President; two Vice-Presidents; and Secretary-Treasurer.

The GEMA president would like to propose three changes to the executive committee due to the dynamic nature of the organization. We propose a change to our bylaws to enhance the flexibility of the committee structure and to allow for increased leadership opportunities for GEMA members by expanding Executive Committee. Further, the proposed amendment will align the leadership selection process with other SAEM academies.

Amendment: The GEMA Executive and Nominations and Elections Committees propose the following change to GEMA bylaws:

1. All terms will be reduced to one-year duration.
2. The positions of vice-president and secretary-treasurer will be removed.

The following positions will be added to the executive committee: Secretary, Treasurer, Development and Grants Officer, IT chair, SAEM planning committee liaison and two (2) Members-at-Large and one (1) Medical Student/Resident Representative.
